FAMINE NOT FEARED AS FOE BY ITALIANS

Washington, October 19.—Famine is one of the foes Italy will not be called upon to face this coming winter, although she still depends greatly upon America to keep her people from want.

This cheering message from the Italian food controller has reached the department of commerce.

"The food shortage of the past will not come again," it reads.

In explaining that there is still a shortage, the food controller declares that the allies can well count on the United States to supply what may be necessary.

Bread composed of 85 per cent wheat, will in all probability, be available for all, the Italian food controller said. Crop shortage have been made up by the vast supplies of food that have poured in from America.

"If the rules of baking are observed, the country can count on bread of excellent quality, appetizing and easily digested," he said.

A poor olive has resulted in a shortage of this important product. Butter is also likely to be scarce.

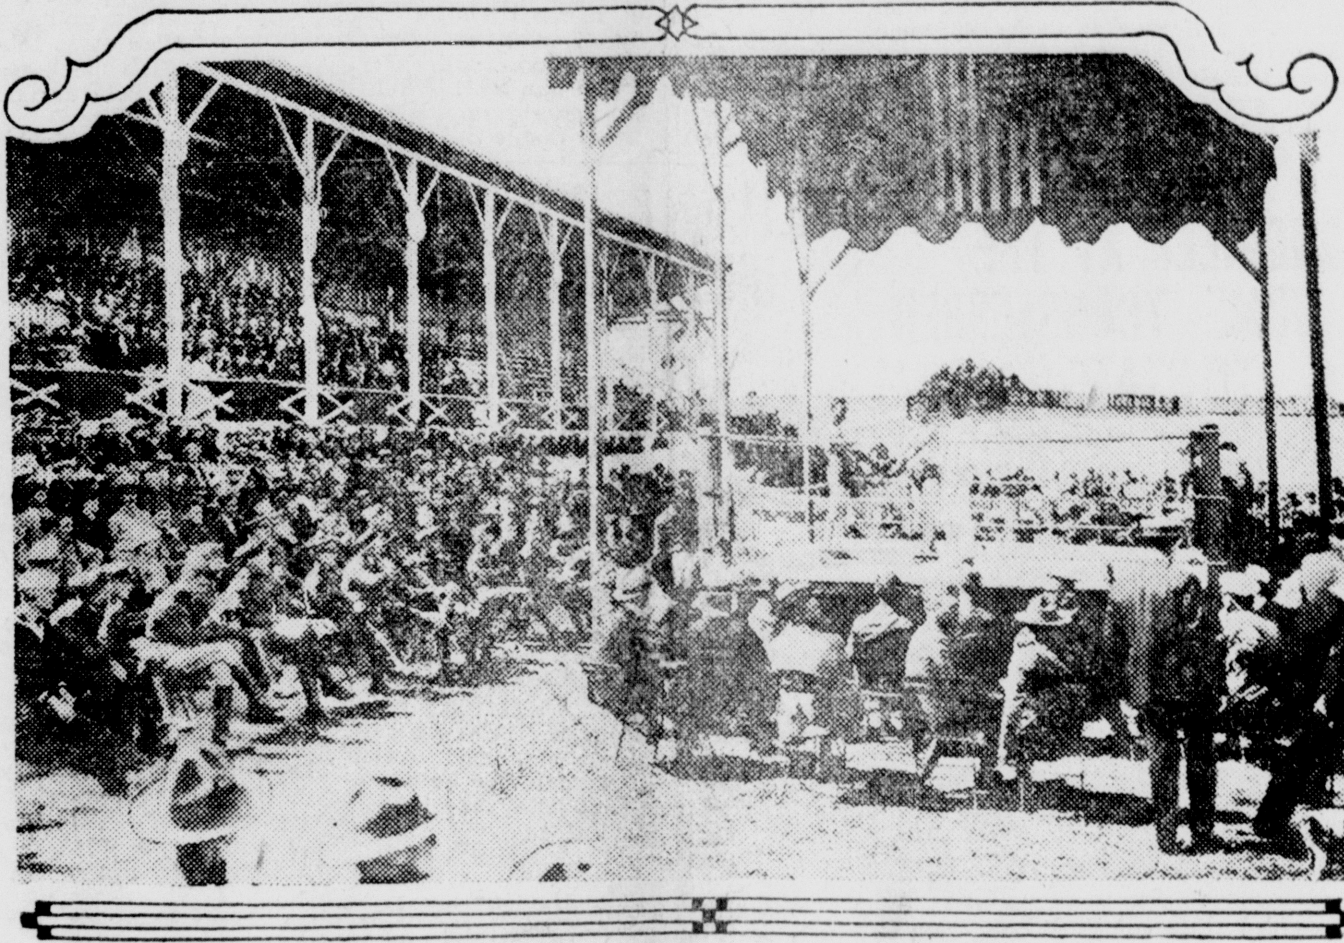

Lard and fats, however, the communication explains, will be available in "more reasonable quantities," and the outlook for meats, fish and vegetables is bright.

Soldier and sailor staging bout at Bordeaux.

There's a spirit of friendly rivalry between our boys in the army and navy, as is evidenced by the way they go to it in their inter-service contests. They get plenty of chance to test their skill, too. The above photo shows a sailor and soldier shaking hands before a bout at an American rest camp at Bordeaux. Soldiers slightly wounded or exhausted from hard duty in the trenches are sent to these camps for rest. Every effort is made to keep them entertained until they return to duty.

MONARCHY OF THE HAPSBURGS DOOMED

By RAYMOND CLAPPER.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Remoulding of Austria-Hungary, with autonomy and Austrian confederation promised comes too late.

Representatives of the submerged groups said today that the old monarchy of the Hapsburgs must and will be destroyed. As proof of its destined destruction, they point to the Czech-Slovak "declaration of independence," just issued here wherein they proclaim a Czech-Slovak democracy and refuse to remain a part of Austria longer.

Allied successes, it is held, assure the fruition of this plan.

Czech-Slovak leaders say the beginning of the end has come for Austria-Hungary.

Duplicity was seen in Emperor Charles' announcement that he would form a confederation of Austria nationalities, a proposal, which is quite at variance with President Wilson's principles of complete freedom for subject nationalities, which Austria's last note professed to accept.

President Wilson's mysterious silence toward Austria will probably be broken shortly. Diplomats showed wide spread interest in the nature of his reply which is now being framed. The president's fourteen principals strictly interpreted mean the wiping of the old Austro-Hungarian empire from the map. Only a small German section including Vienna would remain of the present conglomerated monarchy.

Complete liberation of the various national groups in the empire will be demanded in the president's forthcoming reply diplomats believed today. The Czech-Slovak declaration of independence was handed to President Wilson only a few hours after press dispatches reported Emperor Charles' manifesto announcing his intention to form an Austrian confederation to grant local autonomy to all subject nationalities.

The declaration of the Czech-Slovaks was taken here as evidence that subject nations of Austria want nothing less than complete independence. They will not be content with any settlement which leaves them in any degree under the control of the Hapsburgs. Already dispatches tell of their seizure of Prague, indicating that real revolution has broken out.

The declaration signed by Professor T. G. Masaryk, prime minister of the provisional Czech-Slovak government, points to a probable federation of the smaller central European nations after they have won freedom from Austria.

"We consider freedom to be the first pre-requisite for federalization and believe that the free nations of central and eastern Europe may easily federate should they find it necessary," the declaration states.

Czech-Slovaks in Austria-Hungary number eight millions, representatives here declare.

Joining a defensive alliance with Austria and Hungary, against the Turks, several centuries ago, the Czech-Slovaks of Bohemia, Moravia were made the victims of Hapsburg encroachment later.

The indictment of the Hapsburgs is bitter. "We cannot and will not continue to live under the direct or indirect rule of the violators of Belgium, France and Serbia, the would-be murderer of Russia and Rumania," the declaration states.

Class legislation is prohibited and no Bolshevism will be permitted to develop.

NATION WILL ROLL UP OVER SUBSCRIPTION

Washington, Oct. 19.—Striving not only for the quota of $8,000,000,000 but for an oversubscription, the nation this morning entered the last day of the fourth Liberty Loan campaign. Prospects were good for oversubscription, treasury officials say and workers everywhere were enthusiastic.

The greatest loan in history is about to succeed.

Half of the twelve federal reserve districts are within a comparatively few points of their minimum allotment. The others with two exceptions are not causing much worry at loan headquarters here. Only Philadelphia and Atlanta have given reason for uneasiness in the minds of officials. However the executive committees in both of those districts are confident they will not disappoint the nation.

The most encouraging feature of the campaign has been the manner in which communities of small population have responded to the government's call for funds. None has stopped at its quota. All are plugging for double and treble subscriptions.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Independence of the Czech-Slovak nation was declared formally yesterday by the Czech-Slovak National Council, recognized by the United States and the Entente Allies as a belligerent de facto Government.

The declaration renouncing allegiance to the Hapsburg dynasty and announcing principles for the foundation of a republic, was issued in Paris and a copy was handed to President Wilson by J. Cissar, of the Council's staff in Washington.

The document is signed by Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, President of the Council, as Premier and Minister of Finance, and by officers of the provisional Government.

TERMS OF PEACE MUST BE JUDGED BY THE PEOPLE

Washington, Oct. 19.—President Wilson today answered Austria-Hungary's plea for peace with the reply that conditions are so altered since Jan. 6, that the United States cannot now accept their autonomy plan as a basis of peace.

Instead, he insisted that the oppressed peoples of the dual empire, "shall be the judges what action on the part of the Austro-Hungarian government will satisfy their aspirations."

In substance, it was a refusal to do any peace business with Austria, the note as transmitted from Secretary of State Lansing to the Swedish minister said:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the seventh instant, in which you transmit a communication from the imperial and royal government of Austria-Hungary to the president.

"I am now instructed by the president to request you to be good enough through your government, to convey to the imperial and royal government the following reply:

"The president deems it his duty to say to the Austro-Hungarian government that he cannot entertain the present suggestions of that government because of certain events of utmost importance which occurring since the delivery of his address of the eighth of January, last, have necessarily altered the attitude and responsibility of the government of the United States.

"Among the fourteen terms of peace which the president formulated at that time, occurred the following: "10.—The peoples of Austro-Hungary whose place among the nations we wish to see safeguarded and assured, should be accorded the freest opportunity of autonomous development."

"Since that sentence was written and uttered to the congress of the United States, the government of the United States has recognized that as a state of belligerency exists between the Czech-Slovaks and the German and Austro-Hungarian empires and

MILLION MARK IS PASSED BY GREENE COUNTY

The loud thud of a bomb exploding in the center of the city shortly before 5 o'clock, Friday afternoon, celebrated the passing of the $1,000,000 mark by Greene county in over-subscribing to the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Judge H. L. Smith, chairman of the Greene County Liberty Loan Committee, fired the bomb in front of the Main street entrance to the court house.

This feature was unannounced, and it brought to the street hundreds of people, curious to know the cause of the explosion.

Greene county went over the million dollar mark about 3 p. m., Friday.

It is estimated by the close of the campaign Saturday night, this county will have rolled up in Liberty Loan subscriptions $1,100,000, or $300,000 more than the quota assigned to the county.

The sum reported by county banks Friday afternoon was $978,000. In addition to this there is on deposit in the Federal Reserve Bank at Cleveland to the credit of Greene county, $31,000, in subscriptions, the share of this county in amounts subscribed by various public utilities, The American Tobacco Company, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Big Four Railroad Company, Ohio Fuel Supply Company, and others.

Every district in the county has won its honor flag, and these will be sent to chairman in all the districts so that they may be unfurled and hung in conspicuous places, demonstrating the loyalty of those communities.

Saturday night two more bombs will be fired by Liberty Loan officials in demonstration of the patriotic effort put forth by Greene County citizens in over-subscribing their quota.

The Women's Liberty Loan committee for Greene county helped the county on to its victorious $1,000,000 by turning in $145,000 worth of subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Mrs. Eber Reynolds, chairman of the Women's Committee, announced Saturday afternoon that her workers had succeeded in securing $20,000 worth more of subscriptions to the loan than the women's quota of $125,000.

Bilious

That had taste in the mouth; that led breath; that furred tongue; that dull headache; that drowsiness; that disturbed sleep; that depression; that yellowish skin—all tell the story of biliousness, a disordered system, and your immediate need of a corrective to prevent a sick spell.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

are fundamental in their action, they go down to the root of the trouble, restoring liver, stomach and bowels to a healthy condition; giving quick relief from bilious attacks, indigestion, headache, heartburn, flatulency, depression of spirits—and affording absolute freedom from these disorders. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are tonic, therefore they form no habit.

PLAIN OR SUGAR COATED

PROVED FOR MERIT BY 80 YEARS' CONTINUOUS SALE

DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Philadelphia

THE fighting slogan in France, gathering inspiration and significance as the conflict grows more violent and more desperate, is "Carry On." On land, on sea, in the air, it rings sharp and clear.

Into the front line trenches comes the signal to charge. The company commander swings "over the top." At his heels, pushing and stumbling through the hell of "No Man's Land," come the boys. They gain a yard, five, ten, and the machine guns speak. The commander falls, but over his shoulder, above the din of battle, he shouts, "Carry On, Lieutenant!" So on and on, till every officer falls, and the grizzled old Sergeant sets his teeth and takes what's left of them on to victory.

"Carry On" must be our slogan here at home. We must "Carry On" to the utmost limit our ability, to the last dollar of our resources, till Victory is won. Let us stand shoulder to shoulder—buy all the Liberty Bonds we can. Let us keep our Bonds and save to buy more.

"Carry On!" Buy Liberty Bonds!

U. S. GAIN IS 136 PER CENT
IN LATIN AMERICAN TRADE.

The trade of the United States with Latin America in the fiscal year just ending exceeded by far any earlier year. In fact, it aggregated $1,770,- 000,000, against $750,000,000 in the year immediately preceding the war, the actual gain therefore having been in round terms 136 per cent.

Compilation by the National City Bank of New York shows that the total imports from Latin America in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, aggregated $1,103,000,000 against $903,000,000 in 1917, the former high record, and $469,000,000 in 1914, the year preceding the war. Exports to Latin America were $740,000,000, against $582,000,000 in the fiscal year 1917 and only $282,000,000 in 1914, the year immediately preceding the war.
Thus the trade with Latin America in the fiscal year 1918, compared with that of the fiscal year 1914, which closed only a few weeks before the beginning of the war, shows that imports from the area have increased about 120 per cent and exports thereto have increased 160 per cent.

A very large proportion of the increase of exports to Latin America occurs in manufactures. Normally manufactures from more than 80 per cent of the merchandise passing from the United States to the other American countries at the south, and the bank's figures indicate that more than $1,600,000,000 worth of manufactures have passed from the United States to Latin America since the beginning of the war, against less than $1,000,- 000,000 worth in the corresponding period preceding the war.

Coffee, cocoa, rubber, hides, copper, wool, nitrates and bananas are principal articles imported from Latin America, and all of these show a marked increase in quantities and greatly increased prices. Exports from the United States to Latin America in 1918 were ten times as much as in 1898 and three times as much as in 1910.

20 YEARS AGO

Mr. O. A. Snahr has been confined to his home for several days past by an injury to his foot, which he sustained by a misstep in coming down the stairway at his place of business.
Miss Mabel Hooven of Dayton, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Maude Hooven, of this city.

Clarence, little son of Mr. and Mrs.
Edward Schmidt, was taken seriously ill yesterday suffering from congestion of the lungs. His condition was quite alarming to his friends for a little time this morn.

A number of friends and relatives received invitations today, reading as follows:

"Mrs. L. E. Rogers requests the pleasure of her daughter, Lucy, to Allan W. Haines, Wednesday evening, Oct.
26, 1898, at six o'clock, 27 Home Ave., Xenia, Ohio." Miss Rogers is the pretty young lady who has been assisting in the office of the Xenia Shufactory.

LABOR AND LIQUOR.

The Ohio State Federation of Labor met at Columbus on Wednesday.
On a test vote 69 out of the 500 delegates present stood up for the Prohibition side, according to the report in the Enquirer.

This has a very suspicious look, as if the booze people of the beer-soaked cities of Cincinnati and Cleveland had "packed" the convention with booters.

When it is known as a fact that no railroad or industrial concern will employ a drinking man, where do these "labor" delegates come from? Our railroad and industrial laborers around here are sober men.

According to the published account of this labor convention, Thomas H.
Mugavin, Cincinnati delegate, said he had received 25 letters from boys abroad asking them to preserve at home their precious liberty while they are fighting for freedom on foreign soil.

This is so "fishy" that we don't believe a single sober delegate believed it, or that any one believed that Mr.
Mugavin had received a single letter from one of our brave boys over there, begging that his "precious liberty" of drinking be taken away.

If a single soldier did write such a letter to Mr. Mugavin, his view is quite different from that of his commanding officer, General John J.
Pershing says: "Banish the entire liquor industry from the United States; close every saloon, every brewery, suppress drinking by severe punishment to the drinker, and if necessary, death to the seller, or maker, or both, as traitors, and the nation will suddenly find itself amazed at its efficiency, and startled at the increase in its labor supply. I shall not go slow on prohibition for I know what is the greatest foe to my men, greater even than the bullets of the enemy."

Theodore Roosevelt says: "I mention that my sons who are now off the army in France write me most strongly (just as General Pershing has expressed his opinion most strongly) as to the harm done to the men of the army by permitting the sale of liquor to them, stating that they believe in absolute prohibition for the army in war time—and one of them adding that his experience has made a permanent prohibitionist of him."

Patriotic citizens of Ohio have a great duty to perform in the next two weeks—that is to work hard to help vote the state bone dry in the near future, by voting "Yes" on the proposed National Constitutional amendment for Prohibition. So many states have already adopted it that it is bound to carry, and we don't want the glorious Buckeye State to be left out in the cold as a slacker in this one of the greatest movements of the age in aid of civilization.

"THE WIFE"

BY JANE PHELPS

BRIAN APOLOGIZES AND THEY SPEND A HAPPY EVENING.

CHAPTER LXVI.

"I telephoned you, but you weren't at home," Brian said, again flushing painfully. "I felt depressed, not a bit like working, so called you out to ask you to go to the matinee or somewhere. When I found you out, I started to go alone. Then met Mollie, so took her."

Ruth listened to her husband's elaborate explanation in silence.
She could feel him feeling glad that he had called her up, that he had thought of her; yet she felt terribly embarrassed to have him feel it necessary to explain what he did before Mrs.
Roberts. What would she tell her husband? Would they think Brian did not care for her, that he was in love with Mollie, or what would they think?

Never had Ruth been so glad to get home.

"Now say what you have to say, and have it over!" Brian said when they were alone. "If you would stay at home where you belong, instead of gadding about, working so that you can do things I can't afford to let you do, we would have been together, instead of you and Mrs. Roberts going by yourselves."

"It seems you can always afford to take Mollie King," Ruth was goaded into the reply. "But that isn't the point, Brian. I was not objecting to the money, but don't you think it looks strange to our friends for you to spend so much time with her?" She tried to speak calmly.

"It's no one's business."
"Very well, if you are going to take that attitude, there is no more to be said. I am sorry I was not at home when you called me up. I thought of calling both you and Mr.
Roberts, but Clara said he hated to lose a half day for pleasure. So as long as she didn't phone him, I thought I'd better not either. But I am very sorry now that I didn't call you."

Brian made no reply, and their dinner was eaten almost in silence.
Afterward, he put on his hat, saying he would be back shortly.

"Don't sit up for me. I may play cards awhile with some friends," he said, standing in the open door.

Ruth looked blankly at the closed door. Her first impulse was to run after him. He never had deliberately left her sitting at home alone before. O dear! how she wished she had kept the fact that her salary had again been raised from him. He had been so impossible ever since.

"Never mind, honey, you old mammy is wif you."
Throwing her arms around Rachel's neck, Ruth, for the first time since she had been married, gave way to the discouragement she felt. She sobbed unrestrainedly for an hour, the old nurse croning over her. She sat by the window until after midnight, when she sent Rachel to bed.
Then she too undressed and crept into bed.

She wondered who these friends Brian had spoken of so casually could be, and why he had never mentioned them before. Perhaps he was with that Mr. Clark, of whom he had borrowed money. Once she thought:
"I wonder if he is with Mollie King!" but dismissed the idea as unreasonable.
He wouldn't leave her alone to spend the evening with Mollie, even if he had taken her to the matinee.
He had only done that out of pique because she wasn't at home when he called. Of course he had taken Mollie out when she was away, but that was so different. To do it when she was at home, anxious and willing to be with him, either at home, or where-ever he cared to go, would be too much like intentional neglect.

Finally she fell asleep, only to be awakened when Brian stumbled over a chair in the darkness.

"Do switch on the light, dear, you'll hurt yourself," she said, sitting up in bed, rubbing her eyes. "What time is it?" as he followed her advice.

"About two, I guess."
"Did you have a good time?"
Brian did not volunteer any information as to where he had been, or who with. Ruth longed to ask, but restrained her curiosity. Brian must not be made to feel that she didn't trust him.

In this Ruth was wise. His was a nature that could brook no restraint. He had shown this in many ways. So she, realizing it, had tried to keep herself from saying or doing anything that looked like espionage. Yet she dreadfully wanted to know where he had been.

The next morning, at breakfast, rather as they finished, and Brian was about to leave, he said shame-facedly:

"I was rotten to ask Mollie to go to the matinee when you were in town. But I was sore when I met her."

"That was all. But all day Ruth was happy because of the half-hearted apology. She knew he meant what he had said, and more. That was his way of saying he was sorry.

That night they spent the happiest evening they had since Ruth told him she had been given more money because of her good work. And as she had so many times before, she said to herself:

"If only we could be like this all the time, how happy I should be!"

"Put Hard Things First."
The person who puts the disagreeable duty first in order is the one who is pretty sure to succeed. The impulse which leads us to postpone anything hard and unpleasant as long as we can is something which will prove our undoing, unless we are on our guard.

Over 300,000 men are directly employed in the liquor business. These men are needed to help the farmers, to help build our ships, and in our big steel and munition plants.

GIRLS DOUGHNUT
SHOP BOMBARDED
BY THE GERMANSBy MISS IRENE M'INTYRE, Salvation Army Canteen Girl at Front (Written for the United Press)

With the American Troops at the Front, Sept. 17.—(By Mail)—A few nights ago we had another taste of war. We had been lulled into a false sense of security by an unusually quiet week, very little artillery, no barrages at all and very little air fighting.

In fact, the pans in our kitchen had not been rattled for days, and we were ready to forget we were at the front, except for soldiers and the necessity for keeping out of observation of German lookout posts on the hills opposite us.

All of a sudden at midnight the big guns of the boches let loose in a box barrage about a mile and a half from us at the nearest point. At the same time they shelled all the villages in a circle about us.

We hurried into our clothes and went down to the barbed wire entangements in a neighboring field. There we were comparatively safe, as long as we lay close to the ground so that eclat could not reach us if shells came nearer. We could also get a fine view of the fireworks.

It was wonderful, and solemn, too, when one thought of it. The night was blue black, and with each retreating shot from our guns great prange flames darted and disappeared into the blackness. We remained perfectly silent while we watched.

My heart always speeds up as I watch such a sight and realize what it is meaning to our boys out there in the trenches.

After an hour of the most brilliant artillery display I have ever seen we went to bed and tried to sleep, but too many whining shells passed over head for that. I didn't tell Mrs. Sheppard, the inspector from Boston, who was with us, that the shells were incoming because it was her first experience under shell fire and we didn't want to scare her to death. But my sister and I knew what they were.

At the same time we were watching just where those shells were landing. Just as dawn was breaking, which is early in France, the church bell and the klaxons sounded above the noise of bursting shells and we knew a gas attack was on.

Gladys and I donned our masks and then discovered Mrs. Sheppard could not get hers on. Investigation showed she did not have it far enough under her chin and her nose clip could not find home. Gladys turned on the flashlight, while I tried to make the clip and Mrs. Sheppard's nose connect.

Finally the junction was made and we realized she was safe and ungas-sed. Then our relief waited to vent itself in laughter, and we giggled until we were afraid we would blow off our respirators. I had to dress with my gas mask on, and it was more like an obstacle race than anything I have yet attempted.

Before long the all-clear signal was given, and we knew the gas was gone, though the guns still sounded all around us. It was now perfectly light, and we hurried to the kitchen to make a fire and get hot chocolate and food for any wounded who might come through.

In a short time some boys did arrive, slightly wounded, and well enough to stop a few moments for hot drinks and sandwiches. They were glad we had something to give them, for the poor boys showed the strain they had been under and they were immensely appreciative of something hot to eat and drink.

Found.

"Ah!" hissed the Pullman porter.
"I have found the secret of his berth."
And he took a task from under the passenger's pillow.—Cartoons Magazine.

Advertising---The Educational FeatureCOPYRIGHT 1918
By R. & L. Co.By W. A. Wade, Wade Advertising Co.
ChicagoNUMBER

A series of fifty-two articles written by experts on advertising for your benefit. They will appear in the Gazette and Republican. Read them and learn how advertising helps you.

Advertising has been, and is, one of the greatest educators of the times. Before the days of advertising, the purchase of anything from a hairpin to a diamond, was absolutely guess work, or a dependency upon one's own personal knowledge of the article being bought, and that, of course, was necessarily limited to the innumerable things any individual purchased from day to day or year to year.

ADVERTISING IS WHAT?

Simply the function of informing the public—educating the public—describing the products offered for sale—telling of what they are made, how they are made, how they meet the requirements—in short, telling the public everything about the goods offered so that when the purchaser goes to buy, whether it be the goods of the particular advertiser or not, he or she will be posted—educated—to a degree not possible before advertising of the character of today, was practiced.

It would be difficult, indeed, to estimate the educational value of advertising in dollars and cents, to the people of today. Stop and think for a moment. Consider the innumerable products being advertised today. Advertising has taught the public to know more about, if not all about the respective qualities of each and every one of them.

Take such a little thing as a soda cracker.

What did advertising teach us about crackers? Strange to say—cleanliness. Before the advent of such advertising, we used to buy crackers in the bulk out of a barrel, which usually stood wide open in the grocery store, catching all the dust, dirt, filth, flies, etc., that happened to be floating around.

It used to be like hiring Tobias Hobson's horses. He was the first man in England who let out livery horses. When anyone wished to hire a horse, he was obliged to take the one standing nearest to the stable door—he had no choice—Hence, the old saying, "Hobson's choice."

Buying crackers in a paper bag was like hiring Hobson's horses.
You had no choice. You had to take them out of that unsanitary cracker barrel, with dirt and all—stale and soggy—handled by clean and unclean hands.

But now—how different. They and hundreds of other food articles, which used to be sold in bulk, exposed to dirt and dust, today come in sanitary, dirt and dust proof packages.
And—advertising was the means used to teach us this valuable feature.

A wise man has said that, "education is that training which fits us for the duties of life."

Advertising in all its ramifications educates us. It is a great big text book—a home study course on modern methods and better living.
It broadens the mind—develops it—sharpens it—and does this valuable educational work all unconsciously.
Advertising teaches the housewife time and labor saving methods in the home, by the use of such modern inventions as Vacuum Cleaners, Electric Washing Machines, Fireless Cookers, etc. It teaches the business man time and labor saving methods in the office and factory by the use of Adding Machines, Motor Trucks, Looseleaf Accounting Systems, etc.

It teaches the farmer time and labor saving methods on the farm by the use of tractors, Milking Machines, Silos, Metal Cribs and Bins, etc. In fact, advertising influences everything every one of us eats, wears or uses in our daily life.

It is doubtful if the average man ever thinks of advertising as an educator, because everyone looks upon advertising solely as a means of selling goods. You, probably, have not thought of it beyond this point, but before advertising can accomplish its prime mission it must educate—acquaint—inform, and because of this it is one of the greatest educational forces in the world today.

Advertising is as necessary in any publication as the reading matter.
Take the advertising out of the would soon realize that half the value daily papers and magazines and you from an information standpoint was gone—and the most important half at that.

Though you read your daily paper for news, in a short time you would want to know where you could get the necessities of life; what was on the market; how to buy and what to buy to the best advantage.

And without advertising you would pay more for what you do buy, because advertising makes for economical production through far greater sales, brought about by educating the public how, where and what to buy to the best advantage.

Therefore, it would seem that one of the greatest advantages of advertising to the general public is its educational force, because it teaches, trains and fits all of us—boy and girl—man and woman, to meet the duties of life, so that we may live better, live happier and live longer.

Whose Fight?

THREE MILLION MEN — half of them in France—many more in training.

But is this all their fight?

It takes ten men at work to keep one fighting man at the front.

It takes millions of dollars just to keep this army fed. It costs thousands of dollars every time one battery of big guns lays down a barrage.

Is it any wonder then, that the United States is spending at the rate of fifty millions of dollars a day in war and war plans? And with that grand total as the interest on a far vaster principal, which must support this colossal cost or all this task will have been in vain, whose fight do you think this is?

The man's in the trench? The fellow's on the supply-train? The chap's on the gunner's deck?

No, it is yours!

It is your fight, Mr. Banker—yours, Mr. Manufacturer—yours, Mr. Merchant—yours, Mr. Mechanic—yours, Mr. Worker—yours, Mr. Farmer. This fight is yours, all of you who are left behind, as much or even more than it is the man's in the trench.

For that man, though three million strong, cannot raise a hand in the cause of democracy, he cannot even raise a hand in self-defense, except for you.

He is potent only as you are potent. He can fight only as you will fight. The difference is only this: his fight is expressed in nerve and ammunition, yours in work and dollars.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is the world's biggest drive back of the lines. It is the test of the financial reserves of this entire country of ours. It will gauge the power that you intend to put back of the fighting men in France for the next half year or more to come.

In fact it will show the value you place on the heritage of liberty, which three million men have taken up arms to defend for you to-day.

Take care when you sign that subscription blank for Liberty Bonds that the amount you set squares as nearly as it can with all your heart acknowledges this heritage to be worth to you.

LUTZ HOMESTEAD HAS BEEN SOLD

The John Lutz homestead at Market and Mechanic streets, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Jones of the Hussey pike, through the agency of R. R. Grieve. The property was owned by Miss Cora Lutz and occupied by herself and her sister, Mrs. Ida Sinz.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones intend to come to Xenia to make their home in their newly acquired property, and Miss Lutz and Mrs. Sinz expect to take the apartment occupied now by the Misses Sarah and Eleanor Williams, in the adjoining two apartment dwelling which they own. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have rented their farm to their son. They are excellent people, who will be welcomed as residents of Xenia.

BOWERSVILLE

The farmers are making good use of this beautiful weather. Quite different from this time last year.

Mr. D. L. Earley's new house is ready for the plasterers and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Everything seems to be very quiet. No church bells, no school and not many in town, all due to Spanish influenza. There have been a number of cases, but very few that were serious, and so far, not a death in the township. Most all who were sick, are on the mend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Clem Thomas, have new sons at their home. All are doing nicely.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mr. Ray Vaniman of Washington, D. C. He formerly lived here, but died at Camp Taylor, Ky., on Saturday night.

Many people of this community were shocked on Tuesday morning to hear of the death of Mrs. Earl Lewis, nee Dorothy Moon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moon, of near Oldtown. Mrs. Moon's family were formerly residents of this vicinity, and have many friends and relatives in this place, who will mourn the loss of one so young. About one year ago she was united in marriage to Mr. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lewis, of this place. For quite a while they made their home with her parents, and some time ago removed to Dayton. Mr. Lewis contracted Spanish influenza first and then his wife, hers developing into pneumonia, which caused her death. Her husband was scarcely able to be up. She leaves besides her young husband, father and mother, one sister, Miriam, and one brother, James Roy, all of near Oldtown. The funeral was held at the home of her parents on Thursday at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. Miller of this place. Burial at Jamestown.

YOUNG XENIAN MAKES GOOD IN THE ARMY

Mr. Earl McCoy, young Xenian, who enlisted in the army three months ago, is now at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas. He was transferred there from the Ohio Mechanics' Institute, where he spent two months in the military and mechanical school. He has just been made first sergeant and has charge of the motor assembly at Ft. Sam Houston. His company is now ready for overseas, and is expected to leave soon.

ONLY ONE SLACKER IN THE WHOLE LOT

Liberty Loan slackers should be shamed most heartily by the manner in which employees of the paper mill of the Hager Board and Paper Company at Cedarville, went "over the top."

Forty six employees of the mill own bonds of the fourth issue, and there is only one slacker in the whole force, who has so far failed to purchase a bond. The employees of this mill now own $2,600 worth of bonds of the fourth loan.

EAST END NEWS

There will be no meeting of the Twentieth Century Club next Monday night. By order Miss L. J. Payne, Pres. Mrs. Bertha Booth Secy.

Dr. P. A. Nichols wishes to exhort all Christians to family prayer during these days. It is the hope of all that public worship may soon be resumed. He commends the members of St. John's for their weekly financial support and hopes that they will not forget to contribute to-morrow.

Mr. Lowrey of Columbus is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Powers. He is Mrs. Powers' father.

Mrs. Estella Borden is confined to bed with the grip.

Mrs. Clara Winslow of Jamestown pike, is ill with the grip.

Cecil Baker is confined to the house by reason of an injury to one of his limbs sustained at the rope walk.

Mrs. Wm. Royston of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Tibbs of East Main street.

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Scurry will be held Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the home of her son, Arthur Scurry, E. Main street. Any one wishing to view the remains can do so from 12 to 1:30 Monday at his home.

Mrs. Hattie Spencer severely sprained her knee a few days ago, in making a mis-step. She is better, but not able to walk yet.

Mr. R. J. Watkins has returned from a week's visit in Chicago. He left his brother feeling much improved.

Mr. Joseph Gaines and family received a telegram yesterday stating that their son, Oliver, who is ill in Cleveland, is better and hopes to be able to come home Monday.

At a recent meeting of the conference of the East Second street Christian Church, Rev. J. T. Hanawer was unanimously called to serve as pastor. The church is to be congratulated upon its choice, and it is hoped that they will soon be housed in their new church, through the combined efforts of church and pastor.

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Scurry will be held at the residence of her son, Mr. Arthur C. Scurry, on East Main street, Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. Nathaniel Scurry is not so well today. He was quite restless last night and his family is very much concerned about him.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the relatives and friends for the sympathy shown us during our bereavement; the beautiful floral offering and Rev. Becton and Bro. Burly for consoling words, and the choir for rendering of music. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Leach. King W. Scott.

A 25 Cent Box Did More Good Than Two Doctors

This man's stomach was so bad he consulted two doctors, as to what was necessary. They could not agree, so he followed a friend's advice and took Pepsinco.

The very first day he noticed an improvement. After a few days his food stopped hurting him. In a week's time he was feeling good. He took Pepsinco until he could sit down and eat what he wanted without distress.

Druggists sell lots of Pepsinco because it really does help the stomach. Ask your druggist for a small trial package and cure your stomach trouble.

Staving Off Old Age

Battery old age can't be prevented but it can be postponed.

You can keep your starter from getting rheumatic in its youth—your lamps from getting dim and your spark from losing its kick—by just a little care.

If you're in doubt about just what care is needed, you ought to drive around and ask us. It's our business to know.

There's another thing you ought to ask about—Threaded Rubber Insulation. It's the most important storage battery improvement in years.

EPIDEMIC AT CAMP SHERMAN IS ON THE WANE

Chillicothe, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Camp Sherman is striving to head the various cantonments in the sale of the fourth Liberty Loan bonds. At noon Friday the soldiers had purchased close to $250,000 worth of the bonds.

It remained for a Corporal to make one of the largest individual purchases of the securities. Corporal Edward Grasselli, of Cleveland, subscribed for $30,000 worth of the bonds. "I hope to pay for the bonds out of the $36 a month the government is paying me," laughingly stated Corporal Grasselli. But the truth of the matter is Corporal Grasselli is financially able to write a check for $30,000. He explained that his subscription was in keeping with the home quota and that he wished credit for his purchase to go to his own company.

The attention of the military authorities has been called to the fact that men in the vicinity of army camps are making a practice of buying liberty bonds of the first, second and third issues at a price materially less than the market value. Organization commanders have been ordered to report to headquarters if it is found that advantage is being taken of the soldiers here.

The camp surgeon's office considers the influenza and pneumonia epidemic a thing of the past. Surgeon-Major B. F. Duckwall is authority for this statement. There still remains at the base hospital, however, about 700 cases of pneumonia, but most of the cases are mild in form. There will be a few more deaths for several days, but as far as the epidemic is concerned, well, there is no epidemic.

YOUNG WOMAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Blanche Shoecraft, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelsey of East Second street, died at 11 o'clock Friday night of typhoid pneumonia.

She was a graduate of East Main street High School class of '12. On April 30, 1913 she was united in marriage to Walter A. Shoecraft. To this union were born three children. She leaves to mourn their loss a mother and father, a devoted husband and three small children, Robert, aged 4 years; James, 2 years, and Theresa, 4 months of age.

She was a faithful member of Third Baptist church, having united when quite young. At the time of her death she was superintendent of the Sunday School and organist of the senior choir. She will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

Whisky Not Being Used at Ohio Camp

Columbus, Oct. 17.—That there is whiskey being shipped to Camp Sherman by the carload and used to counteract the Spanish influenza epidemic at the cantonment was denied by Major James F. C. Duvall, camp adjutant in a statement issued today.

Investigation of the report was instituted by the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, following persistent rumors circulated to that effect.

"There is not a word of truth in the statement that carloads of whisky are being shipped and used to counteract the epidemic at Camp Sherman," asserted Major Duvall. "An offer was made to furnish whisky and was emphatically refused."

WILSON'S NOTE DROPPED BEHIND GERMAN LINES

With the American Armies in France, Oct. 18.—(Night)—In the first ideal day for flying in a fortnight, a big fleet of American planes bombed German concentration centers. There were numerous combats and three enemy machines were brought down inside the German lines. Observation planes dropped thousands of copies of President Wilson's note to Germany behind the enemy front.

There are indications that since the Kriemhilde Stellung was broken, the main body of Germans are retiring upon other defenses in the rear, leaving only machine gun outposts.

Bantheville wood was patrolled without serious opposition. Along the Meuse patrols reported the Brielle region only occupied in slight force by the Germans.

The Boches are throwing in engineers and minenwerfers companies and Russian workers.

The Americans retired slightly north of Grandpre today.
